Senate Probers Set Deadline For Beck To Offer Records

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probers indicated today they have fixed a 24-hour deadline for Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president, to comply with a demand for his 1949-55 personal financial records.

With the hearings in recess until Tuesday, committee sources said they intend to subpoena Beck's records unless the Teamsters chief quickly gives them to the committee voluntarily. A similar request for Beck's records went out nearly a month ago.

There have been allegations that union funds were used to pay some of Beck's personal expenses.

In Seattle, Beck said Friday he hadn't received the committee's new request yet, adding: "I am not taking a position on this until I see what the committee wants and can consult with my attorneys."

Lawyers To Decide
Beck said that if his lawyers want him to turn over the records "I will do so in a minute." He said "that depends on whether my attorneys believe my rights are being infringed upon."

The special committee was set up to probe alleged racketeering in both labor and business. So far its hearings have dealt with an alleged plot by West Coast Teamsters officials to take over rackets in Portland, Ore.

Late in Friday's hearing the committee produced several checks amounting to more than $14,000 and said the Teamsters money went to Nathan W. Shetlerman, Chicago labor relations consultant to employers. The committee said he once served in that capacity for Sears, Roebuck & Co.

The checks were signed in 1951 and 1952 by Beck and by Frank Brewster, chairman of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters.

Brewster testified that he didn't know why the money was paid. However, he said Beck used to pay Schefferman to make speeches to Teamsters Union groups as "a labor-management authority."

Hoffa Under Investigation
Also in recess for the weekend was a federal Grand Jury probing bribery charges against James R. Hoffa. He is free on $25,000 bond on charges he paid a New York attorney to get hired by the Senate committee and then to feed him committee secrets.

Brewster, the West Coast Teamsters boss, flatly denied that he or other Teamsters officials connived to bribe public officials or to take over gambling, prostitution and other forms of vice in Portland.

Brewster acknowledged he used Teamsters Union funds to pay travel expenses for his horse trainer and jockey. He said he was going to have an audit made to see how much he actually did owe the union, with the idea of paying it back.

The Teamsters Union put out a statement Friday night picturing Brewster's testimony as having "calmly and methodically... restored balance to the evidence heard by the committee."

"For the first time," the statement said, "the select committee has heard a responsible union leader and his statement has placed in their true context the allegations of this parade of racketeers and worse."

Portland Jury Indicts Nine

Teamsters' Official Held For Extortion

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A vice-probing grand jury before which Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk was a witness, returned nine indictments Friday night.

Later two persons were arrested, Frank J. Malloy, 44, business agent for the Teamsters Union here — charged with extortion and conspiracy; and Portland Police Officer Raymond J. Roadnight — charged with false swearing.

Other Names Withheld
Names of the others indicted will not be released until after arrests.

Both Schrunk and Malloy were witnesses at the current Senate labor racketeering probe.

Schrunk was questioned about charges that he accepted a $500 bribe from a gambler in 1955 when Schrunk was Sheriff. Schrunk steadfastly denied the charge.

Malloy refused to answer some questions on grounds of self-incrimination.

Schrunk Not Indicted
Details of Schrunk's testimony before the grand jury here could not be learned. Schrunk was not indicted.

Malloy was indicted on two charges — extortion and conspiracy to commit extortion in connection with the Teamsters efforts to move into the pinball machine industry of Portland.

Roadnight, indicted last summer on a charge of perjury, was re-indicted on the charge of false swearing. He is accused of lying when he stated under oath that he did not offer a bribe to another officer to halt the arrest of persons accused of prostitution, gambling, and illegal liquor sales.

Both men were released after posting bond. Malloy, $2,000, and Roadnight, $1,000.

Denies Dismissal Bid On Murder Charge

LISBON — Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp denied a motion to dismiss the charge of second degree murder against Jack Earl Rogers, 33, of Salem at a hearing Friday in Common Pleas Court.

An 18-year-old coal miner at the time, Rogers allegedly beat to death John Krulick, 71, of Salem Heights near a W. State St. tavern June 7, 1942.

The victim died of a crushed chest and punctured lung.

Indicted by the grand jury on a second degree murder charge, Rogers pleaded innocent by reason of insanity at a hearing before Judge Sharp and was committed to the Lima State Hospital.

Rogers was returned to Columbiana County late last year after being confined almost 15 years in the hospital.

No date was set by the court for hearing Rogers' case.

Bomb Damages Youngstown Home

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A dynamite bomb caused about $20,000 damage early today to a house under construction for racketeer Joseph (Sandy) Naples, Police Capt. Stephen Birch said.

Nobody was hurt by the blast which blew out a front wall of the house in a fashionable neighborhood. The dynamite apparently had been placed in the bathroom.

Police arrested Naples for questioning and held him without charge. It was the 44th bombing in the Youngstown district in two years.

Economy Wave Surges Higher In Congress

Fresh Attacks Made On Ike's Budget; Cuts Are Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — An economy-in-government wave surged higher in Congress today with fresh attacks on President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget.

Rep. Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, joined the budget critics with a statement in Fairmont, W. Va., Friday night that "right now the American people are stunned over the size of future spending."

Animosity To Budget
"Congress might as well face the fact that there is more animosity today over the size of the federal budget than in any peacetime year in recent history," Simpson said.

Simpson said the people are looking to Congress — rather than to Eisenhower — to cut expenditures. Eisenhower has said he is willing to reexamine his budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1. But he has insisted that Congress will have to whittle down or abandon some programs if authorized if any substantial reductions are to be made.

Byrd Urges Pressure
Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee Friday urged delegates to a U. S. Chamber of Commerce strategy meeting on government economy to put pressure on both the President and Congress.

Byrd said Eisenhower had recommended "24 brand new programs" and had proposed "indefensible increases" in others. The senator called anew for a five billion dollar cut in the budget.

Eisenhower's budget, Byrd added, calls for the addition of at least 30,000 more federal employees. He said this would bring the total to 2,400,000 with an annual payroll of $11,200,000,000.

Suitor's Gift Makes Heavy Impression

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ronald P. Raymond decided that the thing to do to make his girl friend like him again would be to give her something big — like a 25-ton earth moving machine.

So Raymond gave her one.

As a matter of fact he moved that 25-ton monster right beneath her window Friday.

He said he celebrated with some "old Navy buddies" and arrived a little late at Miss Janice Brashers' home. The 25-year-old miss was peeved and wouldn't talk to him.

Raymond, a salesman of heavy machinery, decided Janice would talk to him again if he gave her the machine. So he tooted the shrill horn, cracked the sidewalk, carried 24 cubic yards of earth with him and deposited the machine at her home.

Janice refused to speak to him. But the landlord, Harry Turk, he had lots to say.

Raymond went home finally and was there when the police came and arrested him.

Raymond said, "I'll be busy for a few days, repairing the damage I did."

Janice says she wasn't made at him in the first place.

Bids On Auctioned Plant Are Studied

LISBON — Several hundred tri-state bidders and spectators attended the receiver's sale at public auction at the Ohio Hoist and Manufacturing Company Inc., 321 South Beaver St., Thursday.

Bids were taken on the entire plant equipment, less contested items. Afterwards piecemeal bids were taken for each item offered for sale.

The court now will determine which method of bidding will be accepted. This will not be announced until next week. It is understood that the method which will give the greatest amount of creditors will get the nod from the U. S. District Court which adjudged the local plant bankrupt several weeks ago.

At peak times the plant employed 40 men and women and produced hoists, automatic headlight dimmers and tent pegs for the government.

Mother, Five Children Lose All In Blaze

Kaminski Home Near Damascus Is Razed; Loss Totals $9,500

A mother and her five young children were left with nothing but the clothes they were wearing Friday when a wind-lashed fire destroyed their home on the Salem-Damascus Road, a mile east of Damascus.

Mrs. Kathleen Kaminski fled with her youngest child, Florence, 4, after she noticed the fire about 2:45 p.m. Her other children, Emma, 13; Edwin, 11; Audrey, 9; and Phyllis, 7, were attending Goshen Union School at the time.

Loss Totals $9,500
The loss totaled about $9,500, Damascus Fire Chief William Bauman said, and was partially covered by insurance.

The fire chief said a defective chimney was the probable cause of the blaze.

Mrs. Kaminski and her youngest daughter were running to a neighbor's house to telephone the fire department when the fire was noticed by Mrs. Donald Cameron who lives across the highway. Mrs. Cameron turned in the alarm.

Wood Frame Structure
The Kaminski house was a six-room, shingle-covered, wood frame structure set a considerable distance back from the highway.

Chief Bauman said the structure was beyond saving when firemen arrived. "The wind was so severe the house couldn't have been saved by a dozen fire departments," Chief Bauman said.

Firemen doused a barn and other nearby buildings with water to prevent them from catching fire. The heat was so intense that a utility pole some distance from the house burst into flame, the chief said.

Firemen were unable to enter the house to remove anything, he said.

Mrs. Kaminski and her children are staying temporarily with relatives in Salem.

Slayer Gets Reprieve Two Minutes Too Late

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Two minutes too late Gov. Goodwin Knight tried to grant Burton W. Abbott a stay of execution Friday. Instead the kidnap-slayer of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryant died in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber.

The timing raised the question whether a convicted criminal could be saved from the gas chamber after the first lethal pellet of potassium cyanide is dropped. The answer is no. You might as well try to stop the bullets from a rifle in a firing squad after the trigger is pulled.

Time raced against Abbott Friday while his attorney, George T. Davis, sought any avenue of postponement of the death of the slender, 29-year-old former accounting student.

Denied a writ of habeas corpus by the U. S. Court of Appeals, Davis won a one hour stay by presenting a petition to the State Supreme Court. An official denial was recorded at 10:42 a. m.

Davis then tried for another one-hour stay from the governor so he might renew action in the federal courts. Knight was aboard the car-

Navy Blimp Flies 11 Days Without Landing

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Navy blimp, flying longer and farther from American shores than any in history, has demonstrated the capability of these roaming sentinels to warn of enemy bombers and submarines while they are still far from American shores.

The ZPG-2 landed at the Boca Chica Naval Air Station here at dark Friday night after being aloft 11 days and 12 minutes.

The blimp covered more than 8,000 miles, compared with the 6,980 mile record set by the German Graf Zeppelin which went around the world in 1929 without refueling.

From the time the blimp left South Weymouth, Mass., until it hooked to a mooring mast here, its 14-man crew had flown it across the Atlantic, cruised above the coast of Portugal and off North Africa, then recrossed the Atlantic to Florida.

Navy officials declared the flight was never intended as a stunt or merely to set a record, but was designed to prove the ability of airships to keep on station for days at a time on patrol.

New emphasis is put on the airship as an airborne platform for radar, to cruise far offshore and flash word of approaching hostile planes. Lighter-than-air proponents note the airship can do the job of the big, fast-flying airplanes used in the offshore early war-

New York City Turns Green For St. Patrick

NEW YORK (AP) — New York turns green today and everyone is Irish. For this is it: the big St. Patrick's Day parade up emerald-striped Fifth Avenue.

Kelly, Kohn, Kosciuszko or Kirsch, what does it matter? Stick an "O" in front of them and they all spell fun, music and good fellowship.

The big procession — featuring bands, pipers, shamrocks, jigs, green flags and pretty colleens — starts at 44th street at noon and goes north to 96th street.

Francis Cardinal Spellman will review the festivities from the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Robert Briscoe, the Jewish Lord Mayor of Dublin, will be in the official reviewing stand with Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

When the two met Friday Wagner told Briscoe: "As mayor of the world's largest Irish city, I welcome the mayor of the world's second largest Irish city."

Replied Briscoe in his pure Irish brogue: "Inasmuch as Dublin is older than New York, I would say we're breaking even."

The parade is being held a day early this year because St. Patrick's Day falls on a Sunday.

Army Expected To Take Over From U.N. Force

Israel Alarmed At Speedy Return Of Egyptian Control

CAIRO (AP) — Reliable informants said today 600 to 700 Egyptian army reconnaissance and military police moved into El' Arish Friday to take over defense of that area from the United Nations Emergency Force. El' Arish is 25 miles west of the border of the Gaza Strip.

The informants—who are in a position to know—said they doubted the Egyptians at this time would occupy two points in the strip today.

In Gaza, an Egyptian spokesman said agreement had been reached "in principle" on the function of U. N. troops in the strip. There was no elaboration, but the indication seemed to be that UNEF would be restricted to positions along the Gaza-Israeli border.

'To Restore Affairs'
Al Gumburriya's account said Egyptian troops would move into the edge of the strip "to restore the state of affairs existing before the Israeli aggression."

Israel expressed alarm over the speedy return of Egyptian control in the disputed territory, which Israeli forces reluctantly evacuated only a week ago under strong U. N. and U. S. pressure.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir was en route to the United States for urgent talks with Secretary of State Dulles and U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld. She called the situation in Gaza "extremely disturbing" and said her main purpose was to "contact the American government" before Israel makes any decision on the new crisis.

Throngs Of Italians Welcome Nixon

ROME (AP) — Vice President Nixon arrived in Rome today and spent a busy 10 minutes shaking hands with welcoming Italians who thronged in front of his hotel.

A broad smile on his face, Nixon delayed entering Rome's Grand Hotel to greet more than 1,000 spectators who blocked the street.

Italian Prime Minister Antonio Segni led a delegation of top Italian officials who welcomed Nixon at Ciampino Airport after a two-hour flight from Libya, which temporarily ended his seven-nation African goodwill tour.

During Nixon's 10-mile drive from the airport in an open car, the welcome grew increasingly enthusiastic. Some 10,000 Italians were lined up waving and applauding.

Nixon and his wife will be received by Pope Pius XII in private audience Sunday.

Junior High School PTA Fair Draws 500

Crowds estimated at between 500 and 600 persons attended the Fourth Street School's annual fair Friday evening at the school, sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association.

Proceeds were estimated at $750, the funds to be used for playground and other equipment at the school.

Clifford Beck, general chairman of the event, and Joseph Fester, PTA president, expressed appreciation to all committees for their efforts. Games, in charge of Rev. and Mrs. William Snowball, attracted considerable interest.

Grand prize winners were Kay Oswald, Water Elevick, Lloyd Hillman, Amy Himmelspach, Darlene Smith, Sherry Berry and Celia Oertel.

Bible Words for Today

EXODUS 14:15 - "And the Lord said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto Me? Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward." (King James Version)

Some boys playing in the snow decided to see who could make the straightest tracks. One was almost straight. When asked how he made the straight trail, he stated that he kept his eyes on a tree.

Runners must keep to the track and their mind on the goal, and put their whole souls and bodies into it to win.

No one ever enjoyed his religious experience unless he kept his eyes on Christ. Peter sank when he took his eyes off Jesus.

Looking back may be good for evaluation, but progress is made by going forward.

No matter what others do, and "this world is no friend to grace," we must "press with vigor on," always forward using our failures as stepping stones to success. It is easy to see difficulties, to hesitate, to fear, but God needs men willing to go forward.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Conquer Stress

A friend of mine is a pilot for one of the great airlines. He flies a big DC-6 and, when I fly with him, I enjoy the privilege of spending some time with him up in the cockpit.

On one of these trips he was discussing the use of engine power. He stated, "If I use my full engine power for long periods, these engines will lose efficiency. That is to say, stress isn't good for them."

And he went on to describe how he uses every bit of his 2500 horsepower per engine to life his mighty plane into the air at take-off. Then, as he begins to climb, he cuts back to 1800 and, when he reaches cruising level, he drops it still further to 1200.

"If I ran those engines at 2500 for more than two minutes, it would cause strain in them which, in time, might injure them permanently. I have great power at my command in this plane, but I must know how to use it, how to conserve it."

Then he added what I thought was some good philosophy. "Each of us, as people, come to times in our lives when we need all the horsepower we can pour on. But, if we use it constantly and don't know how to ease off, even God can't keep us in physical health. We just can't permit ourselves to go through life tearing ourselves to pieces by strain and stress."

Those who have made such spiritual contact out of stress-filled lives become conscious of an inward letting-go, like a drawn rubber band relaxing. A strange quietness comes over them. Tension may not immediately vanish, for long established mental habits seldom give way immediately, but you become aware that something has happened to modify the old stress pattern. By a continual process of spiritual thinking and living, you gradually master stress and strain.

THE IMPORTANCE of this statement cannot be minimized. I have often quoted Dr. Hans Selye of Montreal as saying that stress is the cause of most of our diseases. A prominent leader of the American Medical Association has said of Dr. Selye's thinking: "If future events prove this concept correct, it will be one of the most significant medical advances of this century."

Mental and physical stress place excessive burdens upon the protective and renewing functions of the body and lay you open to disease. Depending on your basic weaknesses, you may develop aches in the joints, thyroid or heart trouble, asthma, mental disease or other ills. Nothing in this world operates efficiently under stress, whether it be man or machine.

How do you overcome and finally conquer stress? The Royal Bank of Canada, in its internationally-famous monthly newsletter, which rarely deals with banking, discusses this problem: "We need not accept hurry and tension as unavoidable, allowing ourselves to be pressed down by the sheer weight of things to be done. Dr. William Osler . . . wrote: 'The ordinary high-pressure business or professional man suffering from angina pectoris may find relief, or even cure, in the simple process of slowing the engines.'"

AFTER YOU HAVE slowed your engines, there is a second step you must take. It is to feel God's healing touch through spiritual contact with Him. As you touch Him, you really find peace. But how is it possible to reach or touch God? Of course, we make contact with God not with hands of flesh, but with the reach of the mind. It is accomplished by protecting thoughts of faith, love and sincere dedication.

Those who have made such spiritual contact out of stress-filled lives become conscious of an inward letting-go, like a drawn rubber band relaxing. A strange quietness comes over them. Tension may not immediately vanish, for long established mental habits seldom give way immediately, but you become aware that something has happened to modify the old stress pattern. By a continual process of spiritual thinking and living, you gradually master stress and strain.

JESUS LOVED THEM

By PATRICK and GARRISON

PHILIP

"Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter."

—John 1:44

The Bible tells very little about this Apostle, save that he was a fellow townsman of Andrew and Peter; and apparently among the first of that little band of Galileans to follow Jesus from the outset of His ministry.

It is clear that Philip had a practical, perhaps even a mathematical turn of mind, for when the hungry multitude that followed Jesus had to be fed, He turned to Philip and asked:

"Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?"

Philip apparently made a quick estimate of the number of persons in the crowd and told Jesus:

"Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little."

There is another indication also (John XII:20-22) that Philip acted as a kind of informal secretary for Jesus. When a number of Greeks, who had come to the Passover feast at Jerusalem, wished to talk with the Nazarene, they sought out Philip.

"Sir," they told him, "we would see Jesus."

Like others of the Disciples, Philip often found it difficult to understand Jesus' words, and His profound meanings.

Jesus told the little company: "If ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know Him, and have seen Him."

But this assurance only confused Philip. He said, "Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us."

A little sadly perhaps, Jesus asked Philip then, "Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? He that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father?"

Philip was with the other Disciples at Jerusalem after the Ascension. And again on the day of Pentecost he is mentioned.

But following that day, our only account of him is tradition, according to which he went as a missionary to Phrygia and was later martyred and buried at Hierapolis.

Forgiveness

Our verdict had been given. With a word of commendation the Judge discharged us, the ladies and gentlemen of the jury. The completed duty brought little relief. Instead there was a burden, a spiritual weight. Days of testimony and hours of deliberation had given an oppressive sense of the world's sin and suffering.

The door of my church was open and I slipped inside. I was alone as the rays of the setting sun enhanced the rich colors of the windows. All was quiet. I dropped to my knees.

Gradually in the solemn beauty of that sacred place I found peace. Here was sanctuary for me and for all who would come in faith believing.

Thankfully I arose; my heart and mind felt calm and refreshed. I could go home now, but I would return often. In glad fellowship with God's people I would worship the Christ who died that men might be forgiven.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

No Discrimination

When the lawyers and ax-grinders get through chattering about the United Auto Workers case which the U.S. Supreme Court sent back to Michigan for a fair trial, the rest of us will still want to know what everybody has refused to tell us so far:

If it is all right for a labor union to use its members' money to promote political candidates, how can it be wrong for other organizations to use money for the same purpose?

The Michigan court sidestepped a showdown on this question by refusing to say that the UAW spending in question was a violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, which forbids corporations and unions from spending money to promote candidates for federal office.

The U.S. Supreme Court, heeding the desire of the U.S. Department of Justice for a ruling, has sent the case back where it came from, in order to get a decision.

If the Michigan court finds that the UAW had committed no violation of the Corrupt Practices Act and that the act does not forbid a labor union to spend its members' money for political purposes, the Supreme Court will have a decision to uphold or reject.

The public will have a decision on something it needs to know — whether unions and corporations can divert funds to political purposes. It goes without saying, of course, that if unions can back candidates with their members' money, corporations can do the same with stockholders' money. The law will apply equally to both.

It remains to be seen how the unions are going to feel about that.

Delayed Beginning

Edward E. Holt, Ohio's new superintendent of public instruction, can make or break the State Board of Education, whether it continues to have its present 23 members or is whittled down to a more manageable 9 members.

The reason is stated in the Report of the Ohio School Survey Committee, on which the state's new school organization is based. That report pointed out that no board could administer as a group. Responsibility must be vested in one person, the report declared.

With the right man on the job as state superintendent, the school board can act as a policy-making body whose purposes will be carried out by its executive officer. This is the pattern of successful local school administration. It is the policy of the boards of trustees of successful colleges.

Because it lacked a superintendent at the outset and has had difficulty finding one who could serve, Ohio's Board of Education has been floundering. Perhaps it was predestined to flounder for a time, but it was not foredoomed to flounder forever. Its delayed beginning does not mean it cannot come to a quick realization of its potentialities.

Superintendent Holt can make it be what it was intended to be, if he is what the state superintendent of instruction was intended to be—an educational genius with a grasp of Ohio's educational problems and the ability to show how the problems can be tackled and licked without raising a rumpus in the most sensitive of all areas of public affairs.

This Is It

If Treasury Secretary Humphrey meant it when he said the presidential budget should be cut and if President Eisenhower meant it when he backed him up, now is the time to prove the pudding.

A relatively minor matter which has taken on large significance in Ohio will test the sincerity of budget-cutters in this session of Congress.

It took on significance when Sen. Lausche rattled Cleveland's composure by announcing he was not in favor of a federal grant of nearly $5 million to build a stadium in his home town for the Pan American games. Cleveland is Secretary Humphrey's home town, too.

But did Secretary Humphrey praise Sen. Lausche? Did Clevelanders praise him? On the contrary, a delegation of Clevelanders will go directly to the White House to build up political pressure, if possible, to overcome the effect of Lausche's announcement on budget-cutting representatives and senators.

If they are successful, there will be no more time wasted on budget-cutting this session. Politicians will read the handwriting on the wall, and it will say, "Budget-cutting is for the birds. The President and his chief financial adviser were fooling."

Five million isn't much, but it could slam the door on five billion that could be boiled out of the presidential budget for the 12 months starting next July 1.

Religion In And On The Job

A Restless Urge

By EUGENE CARR

The secret of progress is the restless probing and seeking by men and women to discover the new and improve the old, that life may be less difficult and severe, and living more complete and satisfying.

From this insatiable desire for better things has come every benefit we enjoy today — the mechanical devices that ease work, the drugs that prevent and cure illness, faster and more convenient transportation, and safer, more comfortable homes.

Somewhere in the background of every development, a restless man or woman has lived and worked with a sense of urgency that would not cease, would not be denied, until, finally, success was assured. Many times, of course, a discovery has been the result of group action, but always there has been the individual, at least one individual who would not give up, who held steadfastly to his purpose, because something within him would not let go.

There are many cases of record in which a project was pointed toward a particular goal but came up with an entirely different but beneficial result. These have been fortunate discoveries. But to those who were looking for something else, the job they had to do was not done. Famous researchers and scientists have been known to die, still seeking the answer to a question that spurred their efforts throughout life.

This restless urge within a person is not to be confused with what we call "nerves." True, such a person may have a nervous disposition, but more likely he is quiet and calm, with no outward sign of restlessness. So great is his inner urge to get on with his prime interest, there is no tendency to give in to excitability or pressure in the usual sense. In fact, his restless urge acts as a sedative for the otherwise disturbing influences that attempt to move in on him.

In this tense and taut world of today, with its high-flying ambitions and troublesome problems, each of us needs very much to develop a special concern of worthiness which will absorb the shocks of daily life and reduce to a minimum the stress and strain of living.

It isn't enough to try to eliminate disturbing factors from our lives; that is next to impossible these days. But a feeling of urgency that some one thing is important, above and beyond all else, is a great resistor to wear and tear on the human system, especially if tied to a purpose of real and lasting value.

There is one such prime urgency within all of us. In some it is dormant, in others it is stirring, and in still others it is activated. But it is within us all. It is the urge to seek and find a new nearness to God. Once we let it take over, no crises or loss or destructive force can move it from its place as the central theme that controls our every act and reaction.

Frankfurterian Logic

By RAYMOND MOLEY

The Supreme Court, in a 6-3 decision, has reinstated an indictment of the United Auto Workers for violation of the Corrupt Practices Act in using the general funds of the union, collected in dues from the members, for certain telecasts in support of candidates in the 1954 campaign.

These, it should be noted, were addressed to the general public.

The issue would be quite different, according to Justice Frankfurter's decision, if the appeal for a candidate were made in a union newspaper, since such an appeal would go to union members only.

This is a true Frankfurterian distinction without a difference. The real point, in morals or in law, is whether money which a union member contributes for the purpose of supporting a bargaining agency can be used for candidates whom union heads have decided to support.

Suppose, for example, you are an automobile worker who favors the election of John Jones, a Republican candidate for Congress, and suppose the boss of the union takes your money to support, even in a labor publication, Henry Smith, a Democrat running against Jones.

You would have a right to go to the courts of the land under the law and it seems to me, under the Constitution and claim protection from the improper use of your property.

Indeed this is the point which was made when the original law was passed by Congress in 1907 prohibiting political contributions by corporations. That law recognized that the officers or directors of a corporation would violate stockholders' rights in using company money in politics.

The Corrupt Practices Act, revised by the Taft-Hartley legislation, merely placed labor unions along with corporations under the same prohibition.

The issue involved is very important, since the unions claim that they can, by the subterfuge of calling their political appeals by the name "education," use their general funds.

In the hearings before the Gore subcommittee on privileges and elections of the U.S. Senate last year representatives of the unions claimed that the following activities were educational, not political, as quoted in the Gore report: "The representatives of labor cited the following examples of activity in which they under their constitutional right, are permitted to engage with the use of general union funds: (1) Systematically organized drives for registration of voters; (2) carry out a systematic program of political education, including organization of schools where political questions are discussed, and the compilation and distribution of voting records; and (3) exercise the right of free speech by expressing their views on political questions in print and by means of radio and television and otherwise."

This covers nearly the whole waterfront of politics, since not only the general funds of the unions but the time and energy of union officers and shop stewards are used in registering not all voters but voters sympathetic with the politics of the union leaders.

It should be noted also that under (2) above, the printing and distribution of voting records of members of Congress in the last campaign involved 15 million pieces of "literature."

The issue that the Supreme Court cannot dodge forever is whether if unions may carry on these political activities under the name "education" and with general funds, the same permission is not granted to corporations.

The issue involved is the same in both cases — i.e., whether an individual's money can be used without his consent for a political purpose to which he is opposed.

Such permission should be denied to both corporations and unions, not only because of the moral issue involved but because the alternative would result in utter chaos.

"We Gotta Get a Bigger Rug"

How Much For Expansion?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Caution and costly credit seem to be shrinking business executives' notions of how much they should spend on expansion this year.

The total dollar outlay still is expected to be more than last year, although part of this is due to higher costs of building materials and labor and of machinery and tools. Some may be spending funds held over from last year because material shortages then delayed some building projects.

Since business spending was one of the factors that kept times good last year, it is being closely watched now that many feel the over-all economy isn't giving too clear signals as to which way it's heading.

The Commerce Department and Securities Exchange Commission regularly poll businessmen on their spending intentions. When asked last fall the businessmen said their plans called for spending 38 billion dollars this year on new plant and equipment.

The official pollsters have just asked the same question again and now news plans have been whittled down to slightly under 37½ billion. This still would be a record. And it would be a strong prop to the general economy.

But while this will be a 6½ per cent increase over last year's record of slightly more than 35 billion, what interests some economists in and out of government is that the gain appears slim against 1956's whopping 22 per cent increase over 1955.

It will be a prop, as distinct from a boost up.

The gain last year neatly offset the weakness in other props—auto production and home building.

Auto sales are better so far this year than they were last, but home building continues its slide. Last month, on a seasonally adjusted basis, housing starts slipped below the one million a year rate for the first time in five years.

A breakdown on business spending plans for 1957 shows the cross currents in today's business. Industries expecting to spend less than this year last include: autos, down 25 per cent; textiles, down 20 per cent; and slighter drops by tobacco and construction material firms.

Fewer stores and super markets may rise this year, as commercial building is expected to be off by 6.1 per cent. Mining companies plan to spend 1.6 per cent less on expansion and equipment.

Utilities, blessed with steadily rising sales and demand for their services, are set for the biggest increase in spending of any division. They plan to spend more than six billion dollars, up 23.8 per cent.

Railroads will shell out 19.3 per cent more money on improvements and equipment, much of it ordered some time back. Manufacturing companies as a whole are scheduling about 16½ billion dollars for expansion this year, up 9.8 per cent.

Most cutbacks or slowdowns are credited to higher credit charges or to material supply bottlenecks.

The tight money policy of recent months seems thus to be bearing fruit. Its aim wasn't to keep American industry from expanding. What the board did put a damper on was the apparent urge of nearly all industries to expand at the same time and as quickly as possible, thus causing supply shortages and boosting prices. The board thinks it's healthier to stretch that out and avoid further inflation.

Guarding Your Health

Physical, Mental Maturity

We all know, but sometimes too easily forget, that acquiring physical and mental maturity is a slow process in the human race.

All of us have observed the uneven progress of physical growth in children. The development of mental maturity often seems equally irregular.

During most phases of growth we are likely to behave at times in ways which we look back on later with chagrin.

My purpose in this discussion is to point out that too much pressure on the physical development or mental capacity of the growing youth can have disastrous effects. Neither the physical stamina nor the intellectual development of a lad of 15 is up to competition with the youth of 22. He should not be expected to react as successfully in either field.

Life, in many respects, can be likened to a hurdle race. There are growing numbers of youngsters in our population resulting from the increased birth rate of the last 16 years. It seems to me there has been a tendency to increase the height of the hurdles and to start children on these jumps earlier and earlier in life. This carries great risks.

If a child does poorly in mathematics in the eighth grade, is it really justified to put him or her in a slow learning group in high school? If a boy flunks physics in high school is he thereby eliminated forever from considering medicine as a career?

Can we, in fact, say that these hurdles tipped over early in life mean that the runner is disqualified?

Actually we need better methods than age alone for judging physical and mental qualifications of any individual child for any particular physical or mental test.

Furthermore, we have not nearly enough information on the correlation between work in school and "success" in later life by which to adjust the height of our hurdles.

It is true that not all who are expelled from 15 or 16 schools, as Winston Churchill is said to have been, will achieve his greatness. But it seems equally true that not all those who excel in school or sport in early life will be highly successful in their mature years. It seems to me that during the growing years the hurdles should be set low and tipping over a few should not disqualify the runner from the long race.

Once Over

Love Conquers All

More than a week has passed with no implementation of the policy announced by Secretary Dulles when he declared, "We believe in romance," in answer to a question whether the government had done anything to help Harold Connolly, hammer-throwing champ, in his fight to marry a Czech lady discus thrower. "I cannot go into this particular case, but our basic principles is as stated," Mr. Dulles added.

This could be the big turn in the cold war. Love has been having a rugged time of it in world affairs. The U.N. has been debating for over a decade without ever putting in a word edgeways for romance. Venus has been denied a seat in the world organization. Apollo has been treated like an enemy state.

A GOSSAMER CURTAIN trimmed with valentines would be a wonderful replacement for the iron curtain. The atomic bomb might be a sure loser against a world dedicated to moonlit beaches as a world influence.

It is our belief the United Nations will get nowhere until its flag bears an arrow-pierced human heart, and adopts as a doorway symbol a giant figure of Cupid. The cold war can best be stopped by moods of enchantment, adoration and deep sentiment. Khrushchev and Nasser might be pushovers for Romeo and Juliet.

All out for romance! All the ultimatums and notes in the world lack the power of "With love and kisses." This column hereby comes out for a U.N. charter amendment that will give romance an even break. And for a firm statement of Washington policy on the tender emotions. We favor:

A federal program for the advancement of soft music in all undersentimentalized nations.

The use of the Gabor Sisters by the Voice of America.

A system of grants or loans to areas struggling not only for a place in the sun, but a spot in the moonlight.

Technical assistance to all under-romantic countries in the form of poems, lipsticks, smart feminine fashions and the music of Berlin, Loesser, Rodgers, etc.

Immediate dispatch abroad of American agents with "know how" in romantic adventure.

WE URGE THAT Washington create an IBCC (International Billing & Cooing Commission) and an SLA or Spread the Love Administration. The call is for a League of Sentimental Nations. And a Marilyn Monroe Doctrine. Give the nations of this earth more birds and bees, canoes, beach parking lots and porch sofas. It will get back to normal in no time.

THE U.N. GENERAL ASSEMBLY has concluded its eleventh session without yet defining "aggression." Well, aggression is what happens when somebody tries to define what aggression is.

Until the last World War when somebody poked you in the eye, kicked you in the pants and socked you with a beer bottle it was clearly aggressive but today it has become merely a matter for prolonged debate and resolutions.

Once upon a time if a neighbor set fire to your dog and tried to steal your wife it was aggression; today it is hard to get the case on an agenda.

THE SENATE is now probing a bakers' union. A lot of dough is involved, of course.

Railroads say they are losing money on dining cars and may have to abandon them, although some are charging $5 and $6 per dinner. (Remember away back when every menu had "Brown bread and beans... 60 cents" on every dining car menu, and you always wanted to order it but lacked the courage?)

A British atomic lab has a gadget which will shave a man by remote control. Now for the pushbutton haircut and electronic manicure.

Asian-African Bloc Has Become Biggest, Most Influential In UN

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — One of the most significant developments in the United Nations is the emergence of the Asian-African bloc as a powerful, closely-knit operating unit.

This comparative newcomer is not only the United Nation's largest organized bloc — or group, as its members prefer to call it — but it also is the most active and the most influential.

IT INCLUDES 27 countries, one-third of the 80 U.N. members. When it presents a solid front, as it often does, it can play a decisive role on any world issue. During the Middle East crisis, the group has acted as a unit consistently.

The Asian-African group furthermore is the only U.N. bloc which has any prospect for immediate expansion.

The 20-nation Latin American group, once the largest in the United Nations, has not increased its membership since the world organization was formed with 51 members.

The other major group — the nine-member Soviet bloc — added four new members in 1955, but the admission of any new Communist countries does not appear imminent, although there are several candidates. These include Outer Mongolia, North Korea, North Vietnam and Red China.

THE ASIAN-AFRICAN group is expected to get one new member in September — the new country of Ghana in West Africa. Other prospective members in the near future are Nigeria, Somaliland and Malaya.

While the Latin American and Soviet blocs have been active since the beginning of the United Nations, the Asian-African group was non-existent as an organized unit until after the Bandung Conference in 1955. The Arabs had met informally with a few Asian countries as early as 1950, but the actual organization of a bloc — with a monthly rotating chairmanship — is a comparatively recent development.

Originally the group had only 17 members, but it added six in 1955 and four more in 1956.

Nationalist China and Israel, although meeting geographic requirements, are not members of the Asian-African bloc. They are automatically excluded since neither had been present at Bandung and attendance there was made a condition for membership in the group.

THE SOVIET BLOC is the only one which always votes as a unit. Both the Latin American and Asian-African groups seek to agree on major issues, but each member is free to vote as it chooses.

On some issues, particularly so-called Cold War questions, the Asian-African group is split with some supporting the West and some abstaining. Only now and then does the Soviet bloc gain any affirmative support from the group. The Asian-Africans, on the other hand, usually get the support of the Communists and the Latin Americans on colonial issues, and this presents a combination which is giving the colonial powers a bad time in the United Nations.

One big group of U.N. members still remains unorganized — the non-Communist countries of Europe. Occasionally, these meet informally — as do the British Commonwealth countries and other smaller groups — but they have no formal arrangements or organization.

The United States also remains outside any bloc.

'Heart Pump' Stops Heart For As Long As 45 Minutes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A "heart pump" which halts heart action for as long as 45 minutes has been developed at Ohio State University's health center.

Ten years ago, such stoppage of the heart would have caused death and was considered impossible. Today, the "heart pump" is enabling surgeons at University and Children's hospitals here to halt heart action during major surgery cases.

It pumps for the heart and breathes for the lungs.

The machine had its inception in 1950 with basic construction completed in the departments of cardiology and physiology.

The pump detours blood around the heart and lungs. Surgeons then are able to temporarily paralyze the heart muscle, open the organ and correct defects.

Blood normally entering the heart is diverted into the machine through two plastic tubes, one inserted in each of two large veins.

The heart's pumping action is simulated by a series of steel fingers, compressing and releasing a rubber tube in a sort of milking action.

The blood takes on oxygen and emits carbon dioxide, similar to the process that occurs in the lungs. The blood is returned to the patient's body via a plastic tube in a branch of the aorta, the major artery leading from the heart.

Incorporated in the machine is an extensive system of electrical equipment for keeping the blood warm while it is outside the body.

A great deal of blood is needed to "prime the pump." It must be fresh blood, not stored blood.

Mrs. Roger E. Kelch

Fratila-Kelch Nuptials Held In Lisbon Methodist Church

An altar of the Lisbon Methodist Church sanctuary was graced with pink and white gladioli and snapdragons, fronds of huckleberry and palms for the evening wedding March 8 of Miss Norma Jeanne Fratila and Roger E. Kelch.

Harry Houser of the Lisbon Church of Christ officiated at the double ring ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mrs. Paul Higgins of 705 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, and the late Alex Fratila; and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kelch of RD 5, Lisbon.

Pews were marked with white satin bows and greenery as the soloist, Dean Duvall of Lisbon, sang "Be With Us Lord," "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "Oh, Promise Me." Mrs. Vernon Duke of Lisbon was the organist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ralph Fratila of Salem, the bride was groomed in a Chantilly lace and nylon tulle creation.

The molded bodice was fashioned with a scalloped bateau neckline and short sleeves. The bouffant skirt, alternated with ruffles, Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, ended in a sweep train.

The bride wore long mitts. An orange blossom queen's crown held in place her flowing silk fingertip veil of illusion. Her flowers were an arrangement of calla lilies, gardenias and a white orchid.

Miss Anne Hansteen of Warren acted as the honor maid in a gown of pink taffeta in the ballerina length. Her headpiece was crown-like, and she wore a circular veil.

Pink and white carnations and pink roses were fashioned into a colonial bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Miss Sandy Comanisi of Salem, Miss Marilyn Gamble of Lisbon and Miss Patricia Kelch of Lisbon, a sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants were groomed in mint green taffeta dresses in the ballerina length, identical with the maid of honor's, and wore crown headpieces with circular veils. Their colonial bouquets were of daffodils. Pearl chokers worn by the maid of honor and bridesmaids were gifts of the bride.

Donald Kelch of Columbus, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers were Robert Wolf of Lisbon, Jack Hill of Lisbon, and Dean Bowman of Lisbon, a cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Higgins wore a navy blue crepe dress with a full skirt and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her accessories were white and navy blue.

Mrs. Kelch chose a powder blue suit with pink and navy accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

Grandmothers of the couple present at the wedding were Mrs. Maria Fratila of Salem, grandmother of the bride; and Mrs. Harley Kelch and Mrs. Clyde Freeman of Lisbon, the bridegroom's grandmothers. All wore white rose corsages.

A four-tier cake adorned with pink rose buds and a bridal figure provided the centerpiece for the bridal table at the reception held in the social rooms of the church.

Assisting were Mrs. Anne Comanisi of Salem, Miss Carlotta Lee of Canton, Miss Marjorie Comanisi of Salem, and Mrs. Donald Kelch of Columbus.

The approximately 200 guests were registered by Miss Darlene Kelch, sister of the bridegroom. The guests came from the bridegroom's family, including Mrs. E. M. Bates, Mrs. William Westfall and Mrs. Daniel McElroy.

When the couple departed for a tour through the southern states, Mrs. Kelch was wearing a fitted blue and white tweed suit with navy and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelch were hosts at a rehearsal dinner in their home on E. Lincoln Way Thursday evening, March 7. The newlyweds at that time presented members of the bridal party with gifts.

A graduate of David Anderson High School in Lisbon, the bride is employed at the Deming Co.

Mrs. Kelch, a David Anderson High School graduate, is employed at the E. W. Bliss Co. and is a student at the Salem Trades Extension.

Upon their return from the wedding trip, the couple will reside at RD 5, Lisbon.

Hospital Public Relations Director Speaks To Auxiliary

Mrs. Ludel B. Sauvageot, director of public relations at Akron General Hospital was guest speaker at a "brunch" meeting of the Salem Hospitals Auxiliary on Thursday in the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses Home.

A former newspaper woman, and a public relations officer for more than 20 years, the speaker said that the basis of good public relations in hospital auxiliaries, as in other organizations, is a personal understanding and appreciation of work being done and the ability to make others understand.

Junior auxiliary work was explained and questions concerning the auxiliary and the Salem Hospitals were answered.

Mrs. Sauvageot, Albert Hanna and C. J. Mosher Jr., administrators of the Central Clinic and Hospital, respectively, and members of the executive committee of the auxiliary enjoyed lunch at the City Hospital. Before luncheon they toured the new wing at the hospital, which houses the laundry and storage rooms.

In the afternoon, the group toured the Clinic where interest was shown in the admitting office which is equipped with new chest X-ray facilities.

Mrs. Sauvageot, who has had wide experience in hospitals, expressed highest praise for the well equipped and well managed hospitals in Salem and said that equipment and laboratory staffs in particular far surpass many larger hospitals.

An all-day sewing session will be held Tuesday at the nurses home. Members of the Lisbon and Columbiana "twigs" along with individuals and organizations, including women from Damascus and Berlin Center under the leadership of Mrs. Fred Jose, are making puppets which are being distributed to both hospitals.

Some of the members are planning to attend the 42 annual convention of Ohio Hospitals Association auxiliary meeting April 2 in Hotel Cleveland at Cleveland.

The next regular business meeting will be April 11 in the nurses home.

Middletown Smothers Tecumseh 94-52 For 49th In Row

State Tourney Berths To Be Decided In Regionals Tonight

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Middletown's defending champions are still in the fight for their second straight Ohio high school basketball championship. They stayed in the race Friday night with one of their most impressive performances.

The six-time winners of the state's Class AA crown smothered New Carlisle Tecumseh 94-52 in the regional semi-finals at Cincinnati. It was the 49th straight win for the Butler County kings and only the second loss in 24 starts for the Clark County club. Middletown goes against Cincinnati Elder (19-5) tonight in quest of its eighth trip to the state tourney in 14 years. Six of the seven previous jaunts have ended on the throne and the other in a two-point loss in the finals.

All state tourney berths will be decided tonight, in both Class AA and Class A, as regional titles are decided. The eight teams left of the 349 in Class AA have a combined record of 162 wins against 20 losses.

Cathedral Latin of Cleveland, voted the state's No. 1 team in the final Associated Press poll, and defending champion Middletown, are unbeaten. The upstarters have 22 in a row and Middletown has 24 this year. Akron South is the dark horse with a 17-6 mark, but both Cincinnati Elder and Cleveland East Tech have dropped five starts.

New Boston is the lone clean team in Class A, with a 23-0 record, but the surviving eight of 969 starters have dropped only 21 while winning 187.

Columbus North, ranked fourth in the final poll, was dumped 64-44 by fifth-ranked Toledo Macomber Friday night, and ninth-ranked Chillicothe was erased 60-54 by Cincinnati Elder. In Class A, third-place Vienna was the victim of a startling 64-62 upset at the hands of Midvale, beaten nine times.

Seventh-ranked Shelby in Class AA tangles tonight with Toledo Macomber. The top 10 will be reduced to at least three for the state finals. In Class A only Lockland Wayne's 1952 and 1955 state champs, rated ninth in the final poll, are still on hand from the sports writers' selections.

Of the eight Class AA and eight Class A teams, only Middletown and Lockland Wayne have ever won the state title. Akron South was runner-up to Springfield in 1950, but none of the others have come close.

John Buriff, coach of the Gratis team in Class A which has compiled a 25-1 record, sends his boys against Joe Martin's Lockland Wayne team tonight in the finals at Troy.

As Columbus North bowed out Friday night, only two of last year's state tourney cast were left on hand. They are Middletown and Cleveland East Tech, both in Class AA. East Tech meets unbeaten and top-ranked Cathedral Latin tonight.

In Friday night's four Class AA games, three of the four losers were beaten for only the second time this year. Lima, the other loser, had dropped eight of 20 before succumbing 54-45 to Shelby. Chillicothe, loser to Cincinnati Elder by 60-54, had a 21-2 record. Tecumseh 22-1 (until it ran into Middletown), and Columbus North 23-1 prior to the loss to Toledo Macomber.

Ray Narleski Suffers Fractured Finger

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland Indian Ray Narleski may miss the first month of the regular season because of a fractured middle finger on his pitching hand received in an exhibition game with Baltimore.

Wally Bock, Tribe trainer, said it will take at least three weeks before the finger can be taken out of a splint.

WANTS TWO BANKS
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Most people would be satisfied with just one but Chicago Cub Manager Bob Scheffing wishes he had two Banks — Ernie, that is.

"I wish we had just one more Ernie Banks," said Scheffing, "then I might even start predicting things."

"There are no outstanding players on the club except Banks," Scheffing continued. "That is, we don't think so now, but you never know."

Tigers Drop 5 In Row During Spring Tour

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press

A contributing factor to the Detroit Tigers' dismal start last season was their lack of hustle in the spring training exhibition games. The Tigers participated in 28 games against major league opposition, winning only eight, losing 19 and tying one.

After the first month of the regular season the Tigers were last in the American League standings and it was a long haul before they started clicking. They finished fifth for the year.

Rookie Manager Jack Tighe was anxious to get his club off to a quick start this exhibition season. "The exhibition games are going to count this year. We're going to play them as hard as mid-season games," he vowed.

It hasn't exactly worked out successfully, however, for Tighe and his Tigers. Detroit routed Boston 10-1 in its opener a week ago, but since then the Tigers have dropped five in a row against five different teams.

Friday the batters snapped out of their slump, but the pitching went sour as the Chicago White Sox prevailed 17-12.

Four Detroit pitchers were touched for 16 hits — including a pair of homers by Minnie Minoso that knocked in four runs and round-tripper with two on by Walt Dropp, who had five RBIs.

Elsewhere: Pittsburgh posted sixth victory in seven starts by downing Washington 5-1. . . . Brooks Lawrence pitched five scoreless innings in Cincinnati's 4-3 triumph over Kansas City. . . . Hank Sauer smacked pair of three-run homers and Willie Mays hit one as Giants whipped Cleveland 12-7. . . . St. Louis erupted for five-run outburst in sixth frame to turn back Yankees 7-4 as Mickey Mantle unfurled his first spring home run in ninth off Robin Roberts. . . . Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 2-1 scoring winning run in ninth off Robin Roberts. . . . Rain washed out a night game at Miami between Brooklyn and Boston. And the Chicago Cubs beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-2 in the night opener of a three-game series at Los Angeles.

White Sox Continue Their Heavy Hitting

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Maybe the Chicago White Sox have been crying "wolf" in their search for power and if they haven't things should return to normal when they face the New York Yankees and Don (Perfect Game) Larsen today.

The Sox powdered Detroit, 17-12, Friday and, coupled with their 12-2 victory over Washington Thursday, have scored 29 runs in their last two exhibition outings.

They've also hit seven home runs in the two games with Minnie Minoso, Jim Rivera and rookie Jim Landis getting two each.

Wheaton Wins NCAA Small College Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Wheaton College in suburban Chicago today rules as the NCAA's first small school basketball champion after crushing Kentucky Wesleyan in a bedlam windup.

A Wheaton following of some 1500 fans rocked the rafters of the new Municipal Stadium Friday night and in wild delirium cut down the hoopnests when it was all over.

Their Crusaders led all the way and never were in trouble in shattering the Panthers from Owensboro, 89-65 to win the NCAA's inaugural college division tournament.

Wheaton scored first, zoomed ahead 45-28 at halftime and commanded a 20-point spread most of the second half.

Leading the pack of title-hungry Wheaton were three sophomores — ball-feeding Don Anderson, Bob Whitehead and Bill Gerig — and freshman Mel Peterson.

Whitehead crammed in 25 points, Gerig 19, mostly at long range, and Peterson 18 in a three-way scoring punch that staggered the Panthers.

Wheaton hit .442 from the floor, .583 from the foul line and picked off 51 rebounds in grabbing their 21st straight victory and ending the season with a 28-1 record.

Mason Cope topped Wesleyan with 26 points. The best any of his teammates could do against Wheaton's man-to-man defense was 10 by Logan Gipe.

The tournament's scoring honors, however, went to Jack Sullivan, a 6-4 senior for Mount St. Mary's of Emmetsburg, Md. He popped in 43 points in leading the Mountaineers over Los Angeles State, 62-72, for third place and scored 101 points in three games. His production of 43 shattered his own Municipal Stadium of 39 set in the quarterfinals.

Carol Heiss Wins 3rd Skating Title

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Blonde schoolgirl Carol Heiss today has completed her triple sweep of figure skating titles with collegian Dave Jenkins expected to win his third major crown of the year to night in the National championships.

The vivacious 17-year-old from Ozone Park, N. Y., completely outclassed her field Friday night to add the United States laurels to the 1957 North American and world crowns she previously won.

Clad in a turquoise blue costume with a bright sequin crown, the poised teenager skated with near perfection at Easy Bay Iceland here to take the first place vote from each of the five judges by a wide margin. Carol scored 1,700.54 out of a possible 1,880 points.

Second place went to another 17-year-old high school girl, Joan Schenke, of Tacoma, Wash., with 1,602.7 points.

Jenkins, a 20-year-old Colorado College pre-medical student, goes into tonight's free-skating wrapup of the men's competition with a solid lead, thanks to victory in the compulsory figures that counts 60 per cent toward the title.

National Invitation Tourney Opens Today
NEW YORK (AP) — Old home week for basketball fans begins today in Madison Square Garden with the opening of the 20th National Invitation Tournament — oldest of the post-season college competitions.

Although there's only one New York entry, Manhattan, a couple of teams are neighbors from New Jersey and the rest of the 12 are nearly all familiar because of previous Garden appearances.

The only real stranger is Memphis State, slated to oppose Utah today at 2 p. m. (EST) in the nationally televised (CBS) opening game.

Even far-off Seattle, top seeded, will come in Monday with two New Jersey boys, Rico Parenti and Bill Wall.

Today's other first round pairings send Seton Hall against Xavier of Ohio in the second game of the afternoon doubleheader. Tonight Dayton plays St. Peters then Cincinnati meets St. Bonaventure.

In Monday's quarter finals, Manhattan will play the Utah-Memphis State winner and Seattle the Cincinnati - St. Bonaventure winner. Tuesday second - seeded Bradley will meet Seton Hall or Xavier and Temple will play Dayton or St. Peters.

Seattle University Basketball Coach Johnny Castellani hails from New Britain, Conn., a full continent away from his job.

Cage Finals To Set Record In Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's high school basketball finals March 22-23 will set a new attendance record. The county-to-state tourney games will top the million mark at the gate for the first time, H. W. Emswiler predicted today.

The state scholastic commissioner said interest in tickets for next week's classic is the greatest in history. The new St. John Arena on the Ohio State campus will be filled to overflowing for three of the four sessions, he said.

The arena has 13,300 seats and can handle another 1,500 standees. A few tickets are available for the Class A semi-finals Friday afternoon. The others are sellouts.

Coaches of the four Class A and four Class AA qualifiers in tonight's regional finals will meet at the Seneca Hotel here at 11 a. m. Sunday to draw for first round opponents, set practice hours for Thursday, and pick up 1,200 tickets each for the opening contests.

Any school which fails to sell its allotment must have the surplus back here by 2 p. m. Thursday for sale to the general public or the competing school, or lose $100 of its tournament bonus, Emswiler said.

The record for the tournament, with four teams in each class, was set last year at Cleveland Arena when 39,481 fans sat in, Emswiler said he expects more than 50,000 for the upcoming event.

In 1952 when eight teams in each class qualified for the finals, 49,154 saw the games in the old State Fairgrounds Coliseum. After that, the four-team tourney plan was adopted and Cincinnati Gardens drew 38,125 in 1953 and 37,797 in 1955. Cleveland had 38,654 in 1954 and then set the record a year ago.

The overall record for all tournaments, from the county playoffs through the state finals, was set last year at 989,028. Emswiler said the total would soar over 1,000,000 this time.

MAY SHIFT KUENN

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Another infield shift that would put shortstop Harvey Kuenn over on third base looms as a definite possibility in the Detroit Tiger camp today.

"If I had the courage," said Manager Jack Tighe, "I'd move Kuenn over to third right now. And unless one of these other players begins to look like our third baseman in the next day or two, I just may find that courage."

REALLY IN THE CHIPS — Rev. Bob Richards of Los Angeles A. C. sinks into the wood chips at the Milwaukee games March 9 in Milwaukee. Ike Chestnut Beats Cadilli

Hopes To Break Into Elimination Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — "Who's this Hogan Bassey anyway," wailed little Ike Chestnut, still hopeful of crashing into the featherweight elimination boxing tournament opening next week.

The 26-year-old New Yorker had just beaten California's Gilly Cadilli by unanimous decision in a television bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Unless Bassey, the British Empire 126-pound champion from Nigeria gets upset by Percy Lewis in a Empire title defense in England, April 1, Chestnut probably doesn't stand much of a chance of breaking into the tournament set up by the World Boxing Committee and the NBA.

A quick start enabled Chestnut to even his score with Cadilli. The 25-year-old Californian had edged Ike by a single point in their first clash in Houston last Oct. 30.

But Gilly admittedly was too tense at the beginning in his garden debut and that cost him the verdict. Chestnut, the aggressor all the way, swept the first three rounds. That was too much for the fast jabbing Cadilli to overcome.

The officials voted for Chestnut this way: Judge Frank Forbes, 63-1, Judge Bert Grant, 6-4, and Referee Mark Conn, 5-4-1. The Associated Press had Chestnut ahead, 6-4.

Each weighed 129½. It was 6-5 and pick 'em in the betting.

Jackie Burke Leads St. Petersburg Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The "old pros" brushed past the upstart youngsters and were in command going into today's third round of the $12,500 St. Petersburg Open Golf Tournament.

Jackie Burke Jr., a Texan by birth, was the pacesetter with a midway mark of 135. Cary Middlecoff, a Texan by contract, and Pete Cooper, a native Floridian, were putting on the pressure at 136.

Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., and Billy Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., a couple of lads in their mid-20s who jumped out front with 66s in the first round, were back in the field. Littler was in a five-way tie for fourth with 137 and Casper was in a four-way tie for ninth with 138.

Jimmy Demaret, surprise of the winter tour, soared to a 74 after his fine opening 67 and was well back at 141.

Kansas Defeats SMU, Kentucky Edges Pitt

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

North Carolina, Kansas, Kentucky and California ruled heavy favorites to sweep past Syracuse, Oklahoma City, Michigan State and San Francisco tonight and move into the semifinals of the National Collegiate (NCAA) Basketball Tournament.

The four winners advanced to the semifinals and finals at Kansas City next Friday and Saturday.

For mighty North Carolina, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, tonight's game against Syracuse in Philadelphia is doubly important. Not only would a victory send Frank McGuire's talented crew into the round of four, but a triumph would enable them to break the one-season winning streak record.

They tied it Friday night by defeating Canisius, 87-75, for their 29th straight of the season. San Francisco's great team of last season also ran up 29 in a row.

Here is tonight's complete program:

At Philadelphia-North Carolina vs. Syracuse for regional championship. Canisius vs. Lafayette in consolation.

At Lexington, Ky. — Kentucky vs. Michigan State for regional championship. Pitt vs. Notre Dame in consolation.

At Dallas — Kansas vs. Oklahoma City for regional championship. Southern Methodist vs. St. Louis in consolation.

At Corvallis, Ore. — San Francisco vs. California for regional championship. Idaho State vs. Brigham Young in consolation.

While North Carolina had no trouble once all-American Lennie Rosenbluth found the range, both Kansas and Kentucky, ranked No. 2 and 3, respectively, had their troubles.

Kansas had to go into overtime before stopping Southern Methodist, 73-65, while Kentucky couldn't pull away until the final minutes to turn back Pitt, 98-92. Syracuse earned the dubious pleasure of going against North Carolina with a 75-71 decision over Lafayette. Oklahoma City goes against Kansas by way of a 75-66 triumph over St. Louis, while Michigan State gained the right to meet Kentucky by whipping Notre Dame, 85-83, and in the process snapping a 10-game winning streak of the Irish.

San Francisco, the defending champion which had been all but counted out of the running, sailed past Idaho State, 66-51, and California polished off Brigham Young 86-59 in the West Coast competition.

Meanwhile, the nation's other major post-season tournament, the National Invitation (NIT) opened in New York's Madison Square Garden. Utah met Memphis State in the first game. The other three games of the day-night program sent Seton Hall against Xavier of Ohio, Dayton against St. Peter's (N.J.) and Cincinnati against St. Bonaventure.

Mickey Wright Leads 18th Titleholders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Young Mickey Wright, whose goal "is to become the world's greatest woman golfer," got a chance to show what she could do under pressure in today's third round of the 18th titleholders championship.

The 22-year-old blonde from San Diego, Calif., moved into first place Friday at the halfway mark of the 72-hole medal play event with a steady 73-75-148.

Her lead, however, was by no means secure. Ten other contestants — seven from the younger set — were within four strokes of the pace.

Flame-haired Patty Berg, who at 39 is playing some of the best golf of a career which began in 1933, and 20-year-old Wiffi Smith, British and French Women's Open champion last year, were one stroke behind the 5-foot-9 Californian.

Two strokes off the pace in a four-way tie at 150 were 19-year-old Anne Quast and Ruthie Jensen, 20, both of Seattle, Wash.; Marlene Bauer Hage, 23, of Delray Beach, Fla.; and Betty Jameson, 38, of San Antonio, Tex.

Lausche Gets Used To Being A Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are indications that Frank J. Lausche is getting adjusted to his new role as junior U. S. senator from Ohio. When Lausche first arrived here he startled newsmen by saying: "I would rather be governor of Ohio than a senator of the United States."

Lausche defeated Republican George Bender last November in the U. S. Senate race after serving five terms as Ohio's chief executive.

According to Ray White, the senator's administrative aide, there is a "new enthusiasm" about Lausche.

"He (Lausche) was quite impatient at first, even frustrated," White said. "At the beginning he didn't talk much. Now he talks all the time about his job."

"He takes a great personal interest in the bills, and is always asking questions about them in committee hearings," White added.

There have been a few rough moments in Lausche's new career.

For one thing, his frequent opponent and fellow Ohio Democrat, Rep. Wayne Hays, has said flatly that Lausche's opposition to spending on the Pan American games were merely a play for publicity.

Lausche has gone on record as opposed to a five million dollar appropriation for the proposed games in his home town of Cleveland next year.

ship - to - shore radiotelephone. Knight told him he would try to get through to Warden Harley O. Teets. By this time it was 11:14 a. m. Abbott already was in the gas chamber.

The condemned man was strapped into the death chair at 11:15 a.m. The lethal pellets were dropped into a container of sulfuric acid at 11:18. Two minutes later Warden Teets answered a call from the governor's clemency secretary, Joseph Babich.

Teets told him: "Too late." He explained later that once a pellet is dropped it takes more than an hour to clear the chamber of gas. And physicians say the hydrocyanic gas attacks the brain instantly.

Abbott's conviction was based on circumstantial evidence.

Stephanie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bryan of Berkeley, Calif., vanished April 23, 1955. No one saw her abducted. No one except her assailant saw her killed. On July 15 her purse was found by Abbott's wife in the basement of the Abbott home in near-by Alameda. The girl's decomposed body was found in a shallow hillside grave near his Trinity County cabin five days later.

Abbott proclaimed his innocence to the end.

Late Friday night, a lie detector expert said his findings after interviewing Abbott convinced him the man was guilty. The expert, Hal Reidel, retired Berkeley police inspector, said the trial court ruled the evidence inadmissible.

to fly to the Middle East today, postponed his trip until Monday.

The Egyptian comment on the status of the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF) was made by Brig. Amin Helmy, army liaison officer with the U.N. troops. He told reporters he had discussed with U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, UNEF commander, UNEF's new position in the Strip since Egypt resumed administrative responsibilities.

"We agreed in principle on this position," Helmy said.

While he left it at that, there was no doubt among other informants here that Helmy meant the UNEF troops would be limited to patrolling the demarcation line with Israel.

When Israel announced its final decision to pull out of Gaza and the Gulf of Aqaba, Mrs. Meir said it was on the assumption that UNEF would take over both civil and military responsibilities in the two areas.

But Maj. Gen. Mohammed Hassan Abdel Latif, new Egyptian governor in Gaza, told reporters he had assumed full authority over the Gaza Strip and implied that UNEF would operate only along the armistice line.

UNEF forces in the Strip total about 2,600 men. Latif brought in 50 military policemen, 10 officers and 12 civilian officials.

In Tel Aviv, a spokesman for the Israeli foreign office said that although Latif's staff was called a civilian administration, "they are all military men."

is his name, all right, but here in Denver he's been known for a decade as Chester Alan French, packing house worker.

The story dates back to Sept. 8, 1934, when McCullough and three other prisoners tried to break out of the Cass County jail at Harrisonville, Mo. Sheriff Glenn Weaver was hit on the head with an iron bar during the jailbreak. Two men got away. McCullough, who was being held on burglary and larceny charges, didn't make it.

Three days later Circuit Judge Leslie A. Bruce sentenced McCullough to life in prison for the assault on the sheriff. The charge was assault with intent to kill. McCullough also was sentenced to 5 years on the burglary and larceny charges.

In 1946 McCullough walked away from a prison dairy farm and made his way to Denver. His past didn't catch up with him until he was arrested here last Oct. 27 in a traffic case. He was identified as an escaped Missouri convict through fingerprint records. McCullough immediately began fighting extradition. It was a fight that met with little resistance.

Both former Judge Bruce and Weaver recommended that his sentences be commuted. They noted that feeling ran high at the time McCullough was tried, pleaded guilty and was sentenced.

Bruce added: "I understand that he has led an exemplary life."

The Missouri Parole Board also was lenient. It told the governor it felt the state should not exact its "pound of flesh" in the case.

Friday Gov. James T. Blair of Missouri commuted McCullough's sentences. Now it's only a matter of time until McCullough is a completely free man.

Gonatas

52 Get Award

Since the establishment of this award in 1951, it has been presented to 52 people in Ohio.

To be qualified for this honor it must be apparent that the action of the nominee made the difference between life and death for some individual and that his action in the "nick o' time" resulted in the saving of one or more human lives; it is necessary to have saved a life through an emergency heroic act or the application of artificial respiration or other first aid techniques.

The series of events leading to Gonatas' rescue occurred as follows:

About 3:15 p.m. on Aug. 27, there were a number of construction men at work at the city sewage disposal plant cleaning out the digester tank. Paul Sweeney was overcome by sewer gas and Ed Edwards of Wilson's Trailer Court went into the tank to bring him out. Edwards felt the effect of the gas and climbed from the tank.

James Lowe of Salem then went in. He began to feel the effects of the gas and also climbed out with some help. In quick succession, four other men went into the hole to attempt the rescue of Sweeney and each in turn was overcome.

Was Painting Nearby

Gonatas, who was painting nearby, came over and went into the pit. He assisted Ernest Taylor and William Taylor, both of Cleveland, to crawl through the hole to safety. Gonatas remained in the pit and tied ropes about Ivan Lowe, Donald Riley of Salem and Sweeney so they might be hauled out of the pit. He then climbed to safety. All of the men were revived after artificial respiration and the administration of oxygen.

When it was all over, John Stager, the construction superintendent, searched for Gonatas and found him again at work at his painting.

Clarence Wright, fire chief, and George T. Earley, police chief, said the survival of one or more of these men was the result of Gonatas' action.

The award committee of the Ohio State Safety Council decided that Gonatas was entitled to the Nick O' Time Award. He will receive a plaque and a 21-jewel, engraved wrist watch.
